Introduction (not scored)
- Bot Greets User.
  - Welcome! I will send you questions for you to answer and your answers will then be sent to the appropriate team members! Hold down the microphone to answer.
- What is your name?
- What is your state, city, and zip code?
- What is your preferred contact number?
- Bot Explains the Process:
- I will ask you a few questions and score your answers based on information provided by the team. Your answers and overall score will then be passed on to the team for follow up at your preferred number or email address. We use this method for fairness and everyone is asked the same questions. If your answers are within a certain score the team will contact you. You may also follow up at hello@melospeech.com. Any questions you have can be added at the end of the process and will be forwarded to the team for follow up.

We will now ask the 3-4 problem -based questions.

 It is your first session with a little 2 year old. You have done a full case review and you see that he is not speaking but appears to understand. Parents are VERY concerned. They do not know you and have never met you before. What is this first session in the home looking like? What do you do?

Points break down:
Award 10 points for this best Answer: Building Rapport - any mention of building rapport such as playing with the child, following child's lead in play/child-led play, gaining trust, asking parents about their concerns, addressing parent concerns, explaining what to expect, etc. The key word is rapport with how they plan to do that.

Award 5 Points for this Acceptable Answer: Play (but no mention of child-led or following child's lead)

Award 0 points Not acceptable: Target goals right away. Have parents wait outside. Anything that is not building rapport or gaining trust.

This little one is not speaking. Just pretend that you knew that he would only ever speak 5 words his whole life (we can't know this, but pretend) - and these 5 words were taught by you at the age of 2. What 5 words would you wish that you could teach him?

Award 10 Points for this Best Answer: Any list of 5 core/functional words (e.g., help, want, more, done/all done, yes, no, eat, drink, hurt, again, etc.)

Award 5 Points for this Acceptable Answers: mom/dad/caregiver's name

Award 0 Points - Not Acceptable: colors, shapes, numbers, any word that is NOT functional and would not allow for generalization to other tasks. phone number, SSN - too old for a little child who is 2-years-old to learn especially if they have no other words that they speak yet.

This family knows and loves you now, but suppose they have an illness in the home - we don't want you to go to a home if they are sick - and we will offer a virtual session. How are you keeping this little one engaged for a virtual 60 minute session?
Points break down:
Award 10 points for this Best answers: Any mention of the following: Parent Coaching, using materials/toys in their home, letting parents know how to use the toys in the home to facilitate language during play, communication temptations, songs on youtube, allowing the child to run around and learn in the home, using actual toys that I have in my home, etc. - must mention family is actively involved in the session

Award 5 points for this Acceptable answers: occasional computer games, boom cards, ultimate SLP, etc.

Award 0 points for this Unacceptable answer(s): Strapping the child into a high chair, parents waiting in another room, no mention of parent coaching or the parents, lost look or I don't know. Please provide the total score out of
